support you today

Life with cancer is still life – we'll help you live it.

Cancer is the toughest fight most of us will ever face. We know how hard it is to cope with the physical, practical and emotional effects of cancer. It can leave you feeling isolated and sometimes unable to perform essential tasks.

Coping can be especially difficult if you don't have family or friends close by or if you worry that you are asking for too much support from the same people over and over again.

The Macmillan team is here to help. We offer local services delivered by our trained volunteers that can give you a helping hand.

What you can always expect from our trained volunteers

- All are carefully selected by Macmillan and undergo thorough background checks.
- All carry a Macmillan identity badge with their photo on it.
- All receive extensive training to help them provide the best possible support to people living with cancer.
- All receive regular supervision from Macmillan when providing a service.

Charnwood and North West Leicestershire Befrienders

Emotional and practical support volunteers

Are you or a loved one undergoing treatment for cancer? Would you like someone to offer a listening ear and have a chat over a cup of tea? Perhaps you would like some help with household tasks such as vacuuming, someone to pick up your grocery shopping or even accompany you to the local café for a coffee?

We have a team of friendly volunteers who could visit you at your home once a week for up to 6 – 12 visits to support you as mentioned above.

Our volunteers can also tell you about sources of information and support that are available locally, so they can signpost you to other services that can help.

For more information or to be referred to the service, please speak to your nurse specialist or Macmillan Information and Advice Service.

Or please call: Macmillan Volunteer Service Coordinator Jayne Thompson on 07540 768240
